Deputy Managing Director - Operations, Mr. Patrick Bodden, addressed the participants.

In December, staff of CIMA participated in the 23rd annual Cayman Captive Forum organized by the Insurance Managers Association of Cayman (IMAC).

Held at The Ritz-Carlton, the conference attracted over 1,400 participants, including insurance managers and service providers from all over the world. Also invited as presenters were Deputy Managing Director (DMD) – Operations, Mr. Patrick Bodden; Deputy Heads of the Insurance Supervision Division, Mr. Ruwan Jayasekera and Mr. Raz Busari; and Head of Policy and Development, Ms. Justine Plenkiewicz, along with other supporting staff.

Mr. Busari represented CIMA during a panel discussion on Cayman's regulatory update, specifically captive insurance. For more details on Mr. Busari's presentation, refer to page 4. Mr. Jayasekera joined Mr. Kieran O'Mahony, Chairman of IMAC, and Mr. Jude Scott, CEO of Cayman Finance, in a session on what makes the Cayman Islands a leading domicile of choice. Mr. Jayasekera also discussed the topic of: A Year in the Life of a Captive, while Ms. Pleinkiewicz explained the process of registering a portfolio insurance company (PIC).

On the final day of the conference, Mr. Bodden presented remarks on the state of the local insurance industry from CIMA's perspective. During his remarks, he acknowledged that Cayman was the jurisdiction with one of the highest insurance densities and insurance penetration ratios in the world. He also noted that of the 712 international insurers regulated by CIMA, 34% account for healthcare captives – the largest industry segment as of 30 November.

Although 2015 trends showed continued growth, Mr. Bodden noted that there have also been some less favourable external conditions, such as the Affordable Care Act in the U.S. – which has resulted in a decline on Cayman's healthcare industry.

Despite these circumstances, Mr. Bodden said that, "Although healthcare reforms in the US have posed some challenges to the healthcare captive industry, we have also seen an increase in the size, capitalization and usage of the other remaining captives."

He expressed confidence that the Authority would continue to actively strive to protect and enhance the reputation of the Cayman Islands, whilst remaining responsive, pragmatic and accessible.

CIMA MD Addresses Campbells Fund Focus Conference

On 20 November 2015, CIMA's Managing Director Cindy Scotland, was the keynote speaker for the Campbells' Fund Forum held at the Westin Resort. It was the 13th annual staging of the conference. Addressing over 200 participants, and in line with the theme: Global Growth. Global Challenges, Mrs. Scotland acknowledged the milestones achieved within the global hedge fund industry during the second quarter of 2015.

With an increase in the total number of new funds processed by June 30 2015, 383 compared to 256 during the same period in 2014, she said that the Cayman Islands remains the leader in fund domiciliation in the offshore hedge fund industry, with the number of Cayman-authorized funds remaining consistently in excess of those in other jurisdictions.

Since the previous forum in 2014, there have also been improvements in relation to domestic regulatory changes. Describing these developments, Mrs. Scotland explained that the revised Mutual Funds Law and the Securities Investments Business Law were passed and gazetted in September 2015. Both laws now facilitate full compliance with managers who wish to market and manage funds in the European Union (EU) and therefore have to comply with the Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive (AIFMD).

She further explained that as part of the ongoing discussions with the European Securities and Markets Authority (ESMA), the Cayman Islands will also be considered for possible extension of the AIFMD passport, as announced by the ESMA Chair in October 2015.

Mrs. Scotland said, "Despite the challenges for new fund managers who wish to enter the market, overall the industry as a whole remains strong and is expected to continue to grow. In partnership with Government and Industry, CIMA is committed to playing its part to ensure that the Cayman Islands remains the domicile of choice for hedge funds."

The workshop focused on Investment Funds. Participants also received the 2015 Results of the FSB Global Shadow Banking Monitoring Report produced by the FSB Secretariat. There were also county presentations on the following topics, "Classification into the 5 Economic Functions" by Chile and Mexico; and "Investment Funds" by Brazil, the Cayman Islands, Colombia and the United States of America.

CIMA led discussions during two sessions titled, "Investment Fund Survey" and "Revisions to the IFC off-shore template".

The Authority has been represented in the RCGA (WGSB) for the past three years by Head of the Policy and Development Division, Justine Plenkiewicz.

Campbells Fund Focus 2015

Ms. Heather Smith on the Campbells panel.

CIMA's Head of the Investments and Securities Division (ISD), Ms. Heather Smith also participated as a panelist at the forum.

During her presentation, Ms. Smith acknowledged the trends of fund managers and Cayman service providers, outlined CIMA's role within the funds industry, and explained the application review process for related submissions to the Authority.

Ms. Smith also made note of the advantages of recent changes to the legislation, and how the Authority effectively supervises its clients while making the jurisdiction attractive for prospective clients.

Other panellists were moderator Mr. Robert Searle, Partner of Campbells; Mr. Mark Hedderman, CEO of TMF Custom House; and Mr. Colin MacKay, Group Director of Elian Fund Services.

As CIMA seeks to maintain a responsive and open approach for its clients, the Authority looks forward to participating in the Campbells' Fund Focus each year. Opportunities such as this, allow representatives to address relevant topics within the industry.

DMD - Supervision, Anna McLean, took part in a panel entitled, "Judge, Jury and Executioner". It discussed risk management in the financial sector.

Mrs. McLean told the audience that regulators are among the most cautious people to be found. She said, "We take great care to determine that a breach has taken place before we act."

Dr. Dax Basdeo, Chief Officer in the Ministry of Financial Services, substituted for the Minister, the Hon. Wayne Panton. Other panellists were: Mr. Harlan Loeb, Global Practice Chair, Crisis & Risk - Edelman; and Mr. Keith Miller, Partner - Perkins Coie LLP. The moderator was Mr. Alistair Walters, Partner - Campbells.

Mr. Loeb said that the Cayman Islands is a highly evolved financial services centre with good regulatory oversight, and that some of the things being called for in the United States already exist here in Cayman.

Dr. Basdeo emphasised the cooperative approach, involving government, the Authority and Cayman Finance, which is employed in dealing with matters arising in financial services.

Cayman Regulatory Update at Cayman Captive Forum

The Authority's first session in the 2015 Cayman Captive Forum provided attendees with a regulatory update with regard to Insurance in Cayman, specifically captive insurance. The session consisted of a panel discussion of ongoing and upcoming regulatory initiatives.

Sitting on the panel were Raz Busari, Deputy Head of CIMA's Insurance Supervision Division; James Trundle, Senior Account Manager Kane (Cayman) Limited; Damian Pentney, Insurance Leader Pricewaterhouse Coopers; and Kay Carter, Senior Associate Solomon Harris.

Mr. Busari led the discussion and provided insight from the CIMA perspective. In response to a question about CIMA's new outsourcing guidelines for insurance companies, he said, "You can outsource a function but you can't outsource the responsibility." He was referring to CIMA's expectation that a captive's board of directors will retain responsibility for the thorough oversight of the captive registered in Cayman. He added, "At a bare minimum we expect an agreement to be in place between a captive and the company involved in an outsourced function of the captive. A captive board needs to be fully aware of the risks involved in outsourcing functions and have appropriate policies and controls in place to counter the risks."

Discussing the proposed Statement of Guidance (SOG) for corporate governance, Mr. Busari mentioned that it includes important guidelines such as regular board meetings for captives. The regularity of these meetings, he said, "depends on what is appropriate for your business." He added, "CIMA looks at a captive's stated policy to determine if the captive is carrying out the amount of meetings per year as stated therein. Whether it is one meeting per year or quarterly, CIMA expects proper documentation of the board meetings, which it can inspect as necessary to ensure that the board has proper oversight over the captive."

The panel agreed that the SOG should come as no surprise to anyone in the industry, because CIMA has been in consultation with industry stakeholders, and the consultation is ongoing. Furthermore, the SOG encapsulates robust policies that have become common practice in the Cayman insurance industry.

Mr. Busari also highlighted CIMA's online portal, which is called Regulatory Enhanced Electronic Forms Submission (REEFS). He explained how REEFS is helping to make the application and annual reporting process more efficient for the Authority and the companies it regulates. The portal has been trialled by the larger captive managers and its implementation continues.

Concluding his contribution to the discussion, Mr. Busari shared that Cayman recently underwent a national risk assessment and key areas of risk were identified. Mr. Busari said, "CIMA will keep stakeholders updated with regard to the scheduled country assessment in 2017. However, the Insurance Supervision Division does not foresee any major issues that would affect captives."

CIMA Staff Support Charitable Causes at Christmas

During the Christmas season, staff at the Authority were not only concerned with celebrating with their colleagues, friends and families. They also spared a thought for those less fortunate than themselves, and collected funds to bring cheer to them.

This was done through the annual "CIMA Giving Tree" programme, in which staff of each division agree to donate to a charity of their choice. Representative from the divisions place an ornament reflecting their charity on the CIMA Christmas tree, and later make the presentations to representatives of the beneficiaries.

Beneficiaries included the Department of Child and Family Services to provide for a needy family, Cayman HospiceCare, Meals on Wheels, Youth ACT, Junior Achievement and the Positive Intervention Now programme. For the first time since the Giving Tree's inception, a charity for one of our sister islands benefitted when the Currency Division chose to support the Harmony Learning Centre for disabled adults on Cayman Brac.

However, it wasn't just money that was donated; Elizabeth Bise's Toy Drive received a big supply of toys, and the Cayman Islands Blood Bank benefitted from donations of blood from the staff of the Banking Supervision Division.
